MY PROFILE

I am a results-oriented person with over 20 years experience working with sales, marketing, business development, technology development (web, social media, mobile and e-commerce), management, strategy and organisational consulting. In my work over the years, I have had consistent success in creating and executing on strategies, leveraging teams, establishing new IT-solutions, change management projects, rolling out programs, establishing new solutions as well as forming partnerships and alliances.

I've gained experience from different market verticals and areas, for example; retail, banking and finance, telecom, media, consulting and working with a multitude of different enterprise systems (ERP, CRM, CMS, WEB, MOBILE, DAM, eCOM) etc.

My work has given me a profound understanding and knowledge in IT and how it can be transformed into business value for a company. I like working with new technology and developing people's thinking in using it. Communication is an important part of my way of life and I'm interested in personal and interpersonal communication.

Have experience working with start-ups (as an employee, consultant and running my own start-ups) to large multinational companies, both nationally and internationally.

I've been working on all three sides in the business market environment: purchasing-, supplier- and consultant side. I have a strong personal and business network that I actively maintain.
